MERCHANTS EXCHANGE HAS CHARTER DRAFTED

An adjourned meeting of the subscribers to the proposed Merchants Exchange will be held in the Chamber of Commerce room, Hackfeld building, on Friday, June 24, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., for the consideration of a Charter and By-Laws, and the completion of the organization.

From a draft of the charter handed to the Advertiser, it is seen that the full name is "Merchants Exchange of Honolulu," and the objects are as follows:

"To gather for the benefit of its members such matters of information regarding foreign and local shipping, and shipping news in general, as may be required, and to disseminate the same in such manner as may be convenient.

"To enter into contracts or agreements with other similar organizations or corporations or firms or individuals, in the Territory of Hawaii or elsewhere, for an exchange of reports and information concerning charters, schedules, sailings, quotations, or other matters relating to shipping, and on such terms as may be convenient.

"To provide for its members a central office or exchange in Honolulu, where all such and other information that may be required may be collected and distributed.

"To do any and all other things not inconsistent with existing laws that may be required or convenient for carrying out the objects of the organization."

It is proposed that the organization shall have succession by its charter name for fifty years, and the usual privileges of corporate property holding and disposing are reserved.

Membership is open to any person, firm or corporation, doing business in Honolulu, members to be elected as provided in the by-laws.

The management is vested in a board of five directors, to be elected annually by the members, the directors in turn electing from their own number a president, a vice-president, a secretary, a treasurer and an auditor.

An annual meeting shall be held in July of each year and special meetings may be held at any time on call of the president or three or more of the directors for any business named in the call. A majority of members shall constitute a quorum.

The corporation may demand from each of its members the payment of such entrance fee and such assessments as may be authorized by the by-laws.

FAIRBANKS LIKELY FOR SECOND PLACE

CHICAGO, June 20.—The vice-presidency and the tariff plank of the platform have been the principal topics of discussion by the National Republican Convention. The indications are that Senator Fairbanks will receive the vice-presidential nomination, as a sufficient number of delegates to nominate him have declared themselves favorable. Senator Lodge will probably be a member of the platform committee. It is believed that the tariff plank will be a slight declaration for protection with a view to the tariff. Secretary Cortelyou will be the Democratic nominee and Fairbanks will probably be named as manager of the campaign.

ALL SORTS OF FIGHTS

To Prevent Trials of Criminal Cases.

(From Saturday's Advertiser)

To place jurisdiction of misdemeanors on appeal from the District Court squarely in the Circuit Court, the Attorney General's department has adopted the plan of procuring indictments against the defendants and then moving the appeals on the calendar only to enter nolle prosequi in the appeal cases. This is a clear scope for prosecuting on the indictments, avoiding the constitutional objection to imprisoning subjects without that formality, is obtained.

Charles Creighton and Henry Hogan, attorneys for P. O'Sullivan, and J. J. Dunne, attorney for A. F. France, defendants to breaches of the liquor laws, raised strenuous objections to the new tactics of the prosecution yesterday morning. Messrs. Creighton and Hogan did the chief talking, at times in duet. They claimed that the defendant, O'Sullivan, had appealed to the next term of court and their appeals could not legally be shunted in the manner attempted.

Judge De Bolt allowed both defendants to reserve their pleas until 9 a. m. Tuesday, when the motion in each case of Assistant Attorney General Fleming to place the appeal on the calendar of this term, for the purpose of having it nolle prosequi, will be argued.

Alex. Lazarus, indicted also for violating the liquor laws, had no attorney to make a fight for him. His appeal from the District Court was accordingly moved on the calendar and a nolle prosequi entered thereon. Defendant then being arraigned on indictment pleaded not guilty.

OTHER INDICTMENTS.

Chew It, arraigned for having che in lottery tickets in possession, was represented by Frank Andrade and had his plea reserved until this morning. His appeal from the District Court was nolle prosequi.

Territory vs. Becky Houghtaling, Henry Delamun (as the indictment gives his name) and Henry Ramos, malicious injury, had their plea set for 10 o'clock this morning. A. H. Crook is their attorney. This case raises a peculiar point. Defendants were discharged after trial in the District Court. The complaining witness was not satisfied and laid information against the trio before the grand jury, which returned a true bill against all of them. They are charged with charging a trespassing mare about the yard of the first-named defendant, while no gate was open to permit the animal to escape. Under stress of pursuit the mare impaled itself upon a pointed iron post. Frank Robello is the prosecuting witness.

ANOTHER LITTLE TANGLE.

"Anything to please Mr. Douthitt," Judge De Bolt blandly ruled. The remark closed a short passage between the attorney for Mrs. Lucawelko and Mr. Fleming for the Territory, the case being one of illicit liquor selling. It set an early day for the hearing of a motion to place the appeal of defendant on the calendar.

Mr. Douthitt had first moved for an order to restore to Mrs. Lucawelko sundry bottles of beer, wine, etc. This was persisted in after the court stated that it was 10 o'clock and therefore past the allotted time for motions in any case but the one on for jury trial. The ground of this motion was that a nolle prosequi had been entered in the appeal case. When Mr. Douthitt was given to understand that the effect of the motion, if pressed, would be to put it in the power of the prosecution to place his client in custody, he dropped it like a hot potato.

JURY AGAIN TRAVERSED.

At the resumption of proceedings in the trial of Enoch Johnson and Jonah Kumale before Judge De Bolt at 10 o'clock, C. W. Ashford for the defendants presented a motion to set aside the special venire of jurors returned that morning. The ground was that the names had been illegally placed in the trial jury box, because the list included the names of several jurors who had served on grand and trial jury panels for the October 1903 and the January 1904 terms, and having so served had been excused, and being excused their names should have been placed in a sealed envelope not to be taken therefrom again until the end of the jury year.

On correction by Attorney General Andrews and the court, showing that the October term jury was not from the jury commissioners' list of 250 names for 1904, Mr. Ashford cut that reference out of his motion, saying there were names left of jurors who had been excused this year. He called up several jurors summoned on the special venire, who in answer to questioning verified his claim of fact.

Judge De Bolt overruled the challenge and the empaneling of a jury went on. This process soon exhausted the list of jurors returned, numbering but 15 of the 26 named in the venire. Another special venire of 26 names was issued, returnable at 10 o'clock on Monday morning. There are 11 men passed for cause in the box, leaving one to pass and peremptory challenges of both sides to come.

In the examination of jurors called yesterday, "Paddy" Ryan was excused on declaring that his mind had undergone no change since he was let out on the former trial of the same cause for a fixed opinion. This opinion related to any case in which the doing of the Legislature were involved. Sam. E. Pierce blurted out, "I believe the defendants are guilty," making even Kumale laugh and eliciting from the Judge the request to jurors having opinions not to reveal which way their minds were set. R. Wylie Davies, excused for an opinion on the first trial, thought with some hesitation now that he could render a verdict upon the evidence and the court's statement of the law. He passed for cause.

L. C. Ables, excused from a civil jury in Judge Gear's court the previous day because he said he would strike a balance for himself on the law as between the expositions of counsel without guidance of the court, narrated that incident but counsel on both sides were satisfied with him notwithstanding.

THE HILO CASE.

A. B. Loebenstein's examination in the Hilo waterfront ejectment case of C. A. Brown vs. J. D. Spreckels and others, before Judge Gear, was concluded early in the afternoon. Mary Allau was next called and remained on the witness stand the rest of the day. Once, when J. A. Magoon withdrew a question under objection by W. A. Kinney while Mr. Loebenstein was on the stand, Mr. Kinney caused a laugh by moving "that it appear on the record that Mr. Magoon had backed down for once in his life."

Affidavits filed at Hilo to procure a change of venue of this cause to Honolulu are by W. M. Giffard, a business associate of the Spreckels, and C. C. Kennedy and J. W. Mason, prominent business men of Hilo. Mr. Kennedy's allegations are to the effect that there is such a strong and general prejudice on the part of the people of Hilo against the Spreckels brothers, on account of their lack of sympathy with the town and of public spirit in developing it, that they could not get a fair trial there.

ISAAC NOAR'S FIGHT.

Isaac Noar has brought a cross complaint in equity against Lee Chin and C. K. Al. upon his alleged rights and interest in the Star Block premises, Fort and Kukui streets. His attorney is C. W. Ashford. After describing the premises, stating that the rents therefrom amount to $225 a month, claiming that he owns a seven-sixteenths interest in the property and relating the suit brought against himself and his daughter, Julia Noar, by the defendants, the complainant charges:

That after the filing by defendants of their original bill they, "wrongfully and wickedly contriving to cheat, oppress and defraud your orator in the premises, did combine and confederate and agree together" that they would refuse to pay interest on a certain mortgage and that they would collect and appropriate to their own uses and purposes the rents and revenues of the mortgaged property; to the further purpose that they would prevent the collection of rents by this complainant and the application of the money to the mortgage obligations, and to the still further purpose of forcing a sale of the property under foreclosure of the mortgage.

The complaint goes on to say that the defendants did allow the payments of interest on the mortgage to lapse, until on July 1, 1903, there was $440 overdue and that, on January 23, 1904, the property was sold under foreclosure, the defendants being the purchasers for the price of $700.

Mr. Noar declares that this price was grossly inadequate and that such inadequacy of price was the result of the pendency of litigation between defendants and himself. His prayers ending the complaint are:

That defendants be summoned to appear before the court and answer the allegations in this complaint and be thereafter bound by the proceedings.

That defendants be compelled to come

KAMEHAMEHA TOMB IS CONSECRATED BY CHURCH

While Ancient Kahilis Wave the Ceremony is Performed by Bishop Restarick in Presence of Large Gathering.

(From Monday's Advertiser)

Amid the solemn and impressive consecration services of the Episcopal church the new tomb enclosing the remains of members of the Kamehameha family, which had long lain in the Mausoleum with the dead of the Kalakaua dynasty, was dedicated, and for the first time all the departed members of both dynasties were pronounced sealed in their final resting place. The Mausoleum grounds were thronged yesterday afternoon with invited guests and the occasion, modern in the method of consecration, also partook of the ancient rites over the dead by the presence of stalwart Hawaiian chiefs who stood about the new as well as the old tomb supporting royal kahilis and tabu sticks. The high and petty chiefs as they were recognized under the ancient system, wore feather ahukua about their shoulders and apparently realized the importance of the ceremony, for they stood at their posts stolid and stern.

The new tomb is adjacent to the old Kamehameha tomb with its handsome surrounding block of polished granite, which covers the remains of Kamehameha II, Kamehameha III, Kamehameha IV and relatives. A mat of flowers sprayed over with deep yellow blossoms of the Golden Shower led up to the four sides of the base of the new structure, covering a space ten feet in width all about the base. At each corner stood a Hawaiian kahili-bearer and between them were intermediate bearers with tabu-sticks. Beautiful flowers and leis were likewise grouped about the old Kamehameha tomb and kahili-bearers occupied the posts of honor.

Shortly before 4 o'clock the Hawaiian Government band marched in and occupied a space between the two tombs. Acting Governor Adkins, representing the Hawaiian Government, Territorial and Federal officials, army and navy officers and foreign consuls stood opposite, Bishop Restarick of the Episcopal church, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Simpson and Rev. Frank Fitz in their robes of office, supported by the cross-bearer and followed by the surpliced male choir of St. Andrew's Cathedral, filed into the grounds and occupied an open space between the Governor and guests and the band, a Bishop who stood beneath a shade tree. The choir of Kawaiaho church was also present. Near the new tomb stood Miss Lucy Penbody, Mrs. Maria Beckley-Kahoe, Mrs. Stella Keomalani Cockett and Mrs. Kalanikuniluna Henriques, well known adherents of the Kamehameha dynasty.

The address of the occasion was made by Bishop Restarick, as follows:

Friends and fellow citizens of Hawaii: We are gathered together here on a most interesting occasion. We are to consecrate tombs into which are removed all that remains of the mortal part of those who in their day were kings and chiefs. This provision of permanent and suitable tombs is most laudable. All honor be to those who conceived and carried out these plans. It is an honor to be permitted to perform this duty.

build places of burial for those who have been great above their fellows, and the Hawaiian people have always been careful as to the burial places of their chiefs.

These tombs are not only in honor of the dead, they are to be a witness in the centuries to come of the strong qualities which the men and women who lie here possessed, and of their devotion to the people's good.

There is no time, nor is this the occasion, for a recital of the deeds of each one of these departed. But there is time sufficient, and it is the place for a mention of the service which the line of the Kamehamehas rendered to their people and to point out some lessons from their lives.

The century in which they lived was the one in which progress was more rapid in much that makes up modern civilization, than in many centuries preceding it. It was a century of momentous changes among all the peoples of the world. It was a century when the boundaries of nations were broken up, when the human family seemed to begin to realize that it was a human family. It was a period when the means of communication became so easy and rapid that these islands, once the most remote and isolated of all, became a very center of human activity in the working out of race problems.

It was a century in which peoples began to know each other, and when race prejudice and ignorance were shaken by Missionary and by commercial enterprise, and when nations and races began that mutual understanding of each other's good qualities, which in the future will lead to a closer brotherhood under the recognition that all men are children of a Common Father, and all are brothers through the Elder Brother.

It was during this period that these men and women lived. They saw the old customs fall away, they had a large part in the establishing and developing of a new order.

It was often, yes it was usually the case with chiefs and kings that they have opposed measures which took them from power or possessions. These tombs mark a line whose members with prophetic foresight, and generous good will for the people, initiated and devised measures for advancement. These tombs mark the resting place of men and women who in the new light which came to them willingly relinquished prerogatives, power, lands, wealth, for what they believed to be the good of the people.

It was the free act of King Kamehameha III, that promulgation by him of the Declaration of Rights. Such things have usually been obtained by the people rising in their might and demanding them.

It was the free act of the king by which he relinquished so great a portion of the land giving it to the people in fee simple. It was his free act which gave a constitution in 1852—preparing the way for other and more liberal ones to follow later.

It was a king who selected in the person of a remarkably the measures of reform and to organize the judiciary and other branches of the Government.

I should have to begin at the beginning of the last and go on to the end if I mentioned the interest which these departed ones had in the welfare of the people. All over the Islands Churches are standing on the land given by them, schools are being given to their friends who came to teach them. Guided and inspired by those teachers whom they loved and who loved them, everywhere across institutions designed to uplift the people.

But there is need to specially mention noble women. The Hawaiian woman showed long ago her interest in the people's good and her courage when called upon to act.

That was a noble and a courageous deed of Kapiolani at Kilauea. There were women such as Kaahumanu who greatly helped to bring her people to larger knowledge, and so down to later times. The Queen's Hospital is a monument of a woman who loved the people and who was loved and respected by all races—Queen Emma was a noble woman judged by any standard in any day.

And then as if to close the chapter, when this line was dying out, Bernice Pauahi Bishop deeded the lands of the long line of chiefs which had come to her from many channels to be used for the training of the sons and daughters of Hawaii.

These tombs stand as monuments of a line of men and women devoted to the welfare, the uplifting, the good, of the people.

All honor be to those departed chiefs. The Pyramids mark the graves of despots. Des Invalides marks the resting place of a selfish Conqueror. But these tombs on a far off island mark the burial places of men and women who had true nobility for they had at heart the welfare of the people, and they gave that which they had in order that the people might advance.

I know that these islands are small, but the deeds of these departed are as great as if they had been done by the monarchs and chiefs of the mightiest Nations. They are great in the sight of God who measures the purpose of the heart.

Then again though these islands are small, yet their position has made them a center where problems of the deepest import to the human race are being worked out.

People do not yet understand the lessons which are being taught here. At no place in the world are men of so diverse race and speech brought together in such close relationship, where they live together on such terms of mutual sympathy, and respect for the good qualities of the other, and where each and all have such common opportunities of education and advancement, and where each in such a degree recognizes the rights of the other. Here the great solvent, the English language, which is more and more becoming the world language, opens to all the magnificent fields of literature, science and commercial life, and in a measure induces common thought.

Here is set an example of the movement which must come, when men will more and more cease to be narrowed in their sympathies by place of birth, or by speech or race. Here in these islands the East and the West meet and each learns of the other.

Great truths are usually brought out vividly in small areas. Here we are teaching the world the lesson that man must not despise man though he differs in race and speech.

In the details of changes such as these islands have seen, and which many other nations saw during the same period, in the rearrangement of national lines, there must of a necessity arise to many a sense of loss and sorrow, and in all human affairs greed and self interest inseparably appear. But out of it all there is the lesson that God has for us. He is over all. We are working out His great plan. We are wise if we recognize it and have our

HOLLOWAY'S HILO TRIP

Man Shoots His Wife Perhaps Fatally.

HILO, June 17.—During his stay in Hilo and vicinity, Supt. of Public Works Holloway has given road improvements and other public works careful consideration. Yesterday he looked over the proposed site for the Hilo jail on the Kaunama road above town, and later in the evening met the Board of Trade concerning this and other matters. He says the appropriation of $15,000 is insufficient for the construction of a jail at this location. He estimates the cost on the proposed site to be $75,000 on the scale outlined by Sheriff Andrews, and recommends the utilization of the present appropriation in the construction of substantial jail quarters on Jail Street at its present location.

As to filling in the Park, the bids received were found to be entirely too high, considering the proximity of material which can be taken from the beach. He therefore proposes to re-advertise for bids, to be filed with his office on or before June 25. The contract will be let immediately before July 1, otherwise the $1,000 appropriation will lapse.

He has selected F. B. McStocker, chairman, H. J. Lyman and M. Porter, members of the Oiaa and Puna Road Board. For the Hilo Board, he has already appointed John T. Molr, chairman, and Geo. Ross of Hakaia. For the third member he was undecided as between F. Brughelli, E. N. Holmes and the reappointment of Sheriff Andrews. The Sheriff said he did not care to seek more trouble than he meets in the routine duties of his office, and it is probable he will not be chosen.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Shortly after six o'clock on Tuesday night there was a hurry-up call at the police station, the Herald says, and the men on duty were surprised to learn that Mike Lehuenui, one of the oldest drivers in the employ of the Volcano Stables Co., had attempted to kill his wife by shooting her with a pistol.

Captain Rowland and two officers proceeded to the place at Kukuau where the shooting had taken place. The wounded woman was found in the dwelling back of Dan Katherini's house and from persons who had gathered it was learned that Mike and his wife had a disagreement at noon time, jealousy being the cause. He returned home just before six o'clock and started to renew the fight when his wife ran out of the house. She was followed by her husband, who fired a shot from his revolver which missed her. The woman stopped and Mike grabbed her and fired another shot which took effect in her abdomen, the ball passing through and lodging in the back. Once more he fired, the bullet taking effect in her shoulder blade. She fell to the ground and Mike ran away, stopping to rest when he reached the one mile post and then starting to town.

Near the residence of J. S. Canario on Volcano Street he threw away his revolver and a five dollar gold piece and further along near the bridge he threw away some silver coin. He stopped when he reached the Foreign church and in the midst of a heavy rain storm sat down on the terrace. While Lehuenui was sitting there Rufus Lyman passed and asked what the matter was. Mike answered that he had had trouble with his wife. Young Lyman then told him he was wanted at the station house. The man made no resistance and walked along the street with Lyman until they met a policeman. At the station Mike was found to be under the influence of liquor. He made a statement, and remarked that if he had killed his wife, he would have to die, too.

At a hearing before Judge Hapal the prisoner was remanded until the 20th inst. The wife is in the hospital lying at the point of death and there is little hope of her recovery. The prisoner has been working for the stables for a number of years except for about a year when he drove a wagon for Lewis & Co., the Honolulu grocers.

The big white ship Edward Sewall went to the outside anchorage yesterday where she will await a crew. She will probably sail for Delaware Breakwater this afternoon.

GREAT NAVAL BASE AT PEARL HARBOR

Pearl Harbor has a staunch champion in Secretary Moody of the Navy Department as the site for the future great naval station for the islands. Admiral Terry, commander of the Honolulu Station, received a letter in the Siberia mail yesterday from Secretary Moody, in which the writer intimated that work on the Pearl Harbor Naval Station would be one of the important matters to be taken up by the Department.

A portion of Secretary Moody's letter contained the following significant statement: "It is the intention of the department to establish a considerable naval station at Pearl Harbor. Plans for the survey work of clearing the approaches are now under consideration."

Furthermore the Secretary intimated that in the event of the Pearl Harbor station being completed and occupied the Honolulu Naval Station would be abandoned.

Admiral Terry, commenting yesterday on the Secretary's letter, said that in his opinion a great station was contemplated for Pearl Harbor. As only the preliminary details have been reached, it would probably be many years before the new station can be established.

MAALAEA WHARF IN BAD CONDITION

The report of Purser Conkling of the steamer Mauna Loa's trip is as follows:

On the outward trip we experienced fine weather at Kona and Kau. Met the steamer Kauai at Punaluu, where we took sugar. Fair weather at Kau during our stay.

On the inward trip we had fine weather. Met the steamer Kauai at Kailua. She was to have left for home at 5 p. m. yesterday with 3288 bags H. sugar. The steamer Nihaa leaves Honolulu today for home.

No rain in Hamakua. Daily showers in Kona. Dry in Kau. Kona mill is grinding and will have 150 tons of sugar ready for shipment by June 27. Pahala mill starts grinding June 20 and expects to give up 2000 bags on our return trip.

We passed the steamer Likiepke in the Hawaii channel.

The wharf at Maalaea is in a very bad condition and dangerous to the traffic.

C. S. DESKY WILL GO TO SHANGHAI

Charles S. Desky, to whom Honolulu is indebted for much of its suburban progress, is going to Shanghai to concern himself, if the way opens, with railroad building. Mr. Desky cannot stay idle while Honolulu is waiting for a return of prosperity and China seems to open an opportunity for a man of his driving, energetic ways. The going from Honolulu of Mr. Desky will be regretted as much as his coming to Shanghai ought to be welcomed.

Kauai Shipping.

Purser Friel of the steamer W. G. Hall, which arrived yesterday from Kauai, reports as follows: "Stmr. Mikahala at Waimea loading sugar and Ed. May at Makaweli loading sugar; bark Emily Whitney at Makaweli discharging coal. Barkentine Benicia at Elele discharging coal. Fine weather on Kauai."

Kinan's Sailing.

The sailing of the Kinan at 12 o'clock today will be somewhat of a gala event. The steamer is booked full, with three passengers in many of the rooms, and the dock will probably be crowded with friends of the departing travelers. The Government band will be present to give all a happy send off.

Sierra Due Today.

The Oceanic steamship Sierra, Captain Houliette, is due to arrive this morning from the Colonies and will probably sail for San Francisco about 4 p. m. The bookings here have been heavy.

Shipping Notes.

The Ventura, due from San Francisco tomorrow, will bring five days later mail.

The U. S. S. Iroquois may leave for Pearl Harbor tomorrow with a party to view the lighthouse.

The S. S. Korea is expected Friday morning from the Orient. The Gaelic is due Saturday morning from the Orient.

The ship Jabez Howes has taken on ballast and is now anchored in the stream. Her place at the Pacific Mail wharf has been occupied by the bark Mohican.

The big white ship Edward Sewall went to the outside anchorage yesterday where she will await a crew. She will probably sail for Delaware Breakwater this afternoon.

HILO CASE PROGRESSES

Various Civil Matters Under Different Stages.

When the plaintiff rested in the Hilo waterfront case, Brown vs. Spreckels et al. yesterday forenoon a motion for a nonsuit was offered by the defendants. Judge Gear overruled the motion and in the course of the day several witnesses for defendants were examined. At various times the jurors were given a walk into the corridors while the lawyers split legal hairs upon evidence.

JUDGE WEAVER'S SALARY INMUNE.

Judge Gear made an order in the case of Kapiolani Estate, Ltd., vs. W. R. Castle, trustee, P. L. Weaver et al., setting aside the order of garnishment on the Auditor of the Territory for sums due P. L. Weaver. Defendant Weaver, who is Judge of the Court of Land Registration, resisted the attempt to have his salary for that office attached in an ordinary civil suit related to property, contending that the Government beneficiary garnishee statute had no application to such cases.

ANSWER TO NOAR.

C. K. Al and Lee Chu by their attorneys, Holmes & Stanley, enter a demurrer to the complaint of Isaac Noar, saying that no copy of the mortgage he mentions is attached to the bill of complaint; that it does not appear by the bill that defendants are indebted to plaintiff in any sum; or that a demand for an accounting has ever been made by plaintiff upon defendants.

MERSEBERG'S CLAIM.

In the matter of the bill for resignation of trustee, J. M. Monsarrat vs. Makanoana Piliuahi, E. Kapeka Cummins and Oliver Merseberg, and John Kekahio and Kapeka Kekahio, minors, Oliver Merseberg files an answer, his attorney being Frank Andrade. Among other things he claims he is a beneficiary under the trust deed mentioned in the complaint and is entitled to one-third of all the trust property after the termination of the life estate in his mother, Makanoana Piliuahi.

PROBATE MATTERS.

Cecil Brown, executor of the will of J. E. Harrison, deceased, petitions for discharge. His final account shows receipts of $401.64 and payments of $363.51, leaving a balance of $37.13. Benjamin L. Marx, guardian of Alexander Martin More, a minor, in his third annual account charges himself with $398.90 and asks to be allowed $412.54, making a balance due himself of $13.64.

A discontinuance is filed in the suit of J. Andrade, guardian ad litem of Ah Yin, a minor, vs. L. A. Leong.

NEW BENCH WELCOMED

Greetings by Bar Bring Cordial Replies.

Practically the entire bar of Honolulu assembled in the Supreme Court room yesterday morning to pay welcoming respect to the reconstituted appellate bench. Federal Judge Dole was invited to sit upon the dais with the Supreme Court Justices. Circuit Judges De Bolt, Gear and Robinson, together with former Justice Perry, were in attendance. Chief Justice Frear, re-appointed, sat with First Associate Justice Alfred S. Hartwell, on his right and Second Associate Justice Francis M. Hatch on his left.

Attorney General Lorrin Andrews, when the court had been cried open for business, arose stating that he had been requested by members of the bar to express the gratification of that body at the advent to the Hawaiian supreme bench of men of such great experience and high standing. It was a great satisfaction to the bar that President Roosevelt had been so well advised in choosing the members of the Territory's appellate court. Mr. Andrews spoke of Chief Justice Frear's consecration to hard work and the conscientious and efficient manner in which he had hitherto shaped his career. Justice Hartwell was a man and a lawyer who had made an enduring imprint on the history of the Hawaiian Islands. Justice Hatch was welcomed to the bench as one of its most accomplished members. The Attorney General, in the course of his remarks, expressed kindly regret at the retirement of Justice Perry.

T. McCants Stewart, as a member of the executive committee of the Bar Association, said he was sure that the president, A. G. M. Robertson, if present would join heartily in the expressions of satisfaction with the appointments. The speaker desired personally to express his own appreciation of the character and ability of the court and to promise that the Bar Association would do its part in facilitating the work of the court and promoting that harmony between bench and bar which was so necessary to the administration of justice.

Chief Justice Frear thanked the bar for its expressions of confidence and esteem, proceeding with remarks in substance as follows:

"Changes are constantly occurring, and there have been many in the courts, both in the personnel and in the laws affecting the courts, during our four years as a Territory. I feel that I can hardly let this occasion pass without expressing a high opinion of Mr. Justice Perry, who now retires after a service that has been strong, independent, open-minded, faithful and conscientious."

"I rejoice with the members of the bar in the selection of two such justices as Associates Hartwell and Hatch, who are recognized members of the bar than whom there are none stronger. It is gratifying that they have been willing to take places on the bench. When such men accept positions on the bench little fear need be entertained for the future of the judiciary of the Territory."

"I hope that bench and bar will work together in harmony for the interests of justice, and that practitioners will be sympathetic and charitable in criticisms. It may not be the business of a court to announce a policy. Our main policy, however, will be to do good work and plenty of it. The work is increasing but it is not too much to hope that within two or three years we may catch up and keep up with the work, so that the law's delays will be a thing of the past in Hawaii."

Justice Hartwell, thanked the members of the bar for their kindly utterances, which he took as coming from all of them, and went on to say:

"I must confess that I resume the work of a student of law from the judicial and impersonal point of view with great satisfaction. The study of law has always been to me the most delightful feature in its practice, and in fact the only feature in which I have taken entire satisfaction. I am glad to take up this study from the non-partisan view of a judge. The bar has set a high standard for the bench. I sincerely hope that this court will meet your just expectations."

Justice Hatch, echoing the thanks uttered by his colleagues, said the court recognized the responsibility of the task of maintaining the high record of the past. "I need not remind the members of the bar," he concluded, "that our success depends largely on the assistance given by the bar, and that we look forward to receiving that assistance."

Henry Weidman, a blacksmith, near Mount Joy, Pa., who is greatly annoyed with rats, discovered a new and novel plan to capture the destructive rodents. He soaks grains of wheat in whisky, which he then spreads around for them. The rats eat the wheat freely, with a relish. The result is that the rats get to be so drunk that they are an easy prey, and in this way he has been able to destroy a number of them.

It is said of the Rev. I. K. Funk, whose book on spiritualism has made such a sensation, that even as a child he had a peculiarly subtle and discerning mind. One day, at Sunday-school, a clergyman put a number of questions to him, and finally said: "What commandment, my lad, did Adam break when he ate the apple?" "If you please, sir," was the reply; "there weren't any commandments at that time."

ance given by the bar, and that we look forward to receiving that assistance."

BUSINESS TAKEN UP.

Chief Justice Frear, as the first item of business, announced the decision of the court in the matter of George A. Davis, an attorney at law. This was contained in the following modification of order of disbarment placed on the record:

"The penalty of disbarment adjudged by this court against the said George A. Davis on the tenth day of August, 1903, is hereby modified and commuted to suspension from practicing as an attorney at law in the courts of this Territory until the first day of the October term, 1904, of this court."

"The calling of the calendar of cases was then proceeded with."

DAVIS PETITIONS AGAIN.

George A. Davis made a long and earnest appeal to Chief Justice Frear in the latter's chambers after the court rose, with the purpose of having the court take into consideration a new petition for the appellant's readmission. In the afternoon he saw Justices Hartwell and Hatch separately, following which he filed a petition that the court accept the decision of the United States Attorney General's Department. A letter conveying that decision, addressed to Mr. Davis by C. H. Robb, Acting Attorney General, was attached to the petition. The petitioner drew especial attention to Mr. Robb's closing words, viz: "Disbarment, in its nature, not being a punishment for an offense against the United States, I regret that there is no power in the President to pardon you, as the views expressed by Judge Dole of the District Court, in his opinion disposing of the charges against you, seem to me to be just."

Mr. Davis sets forth that he is a practitioner today in the United States courts—the District Court here, the Court of Appeals at San Francisco and the Supreme Court at Washington. He mentions the severity of the punishment already borne by him, and the keen distress being suffered by his family as well as himself. A suggestion is offered in the middle of the petition that, if full reinstatement cannot be accorded him, he might at least be allowed to resume practice in the Circuit courts of the Territory. At the end, however, his prayer is plainly that the penalty of the court may be reduced to end with that inflicted by Judge Dole and already undergone.

Lily Langtry's Husband.

Evidently Lily Langtry had a profitable visit to America last winter, because she bought for her husband, Gerald de Bathe, some shirt studs that a duke might envy. These are cabochon rubies of good size, and each is surrounded by a rim of diamonds. The studs were purchased from a Fifth avenue jeweler and the price was more than $1,000. Gerald de Bathe is known in London as one of the best dressed men in England. He affects conspicuous clothes, but there is a certain distinction about his appearance that counteracts the effect of his "loud" clothes. To his friends he is known as "Giggy" de Bathe. The Jersey Lily refers to him as "Giggy." They are little of one another. "Giggy" counts the king among his friends, but he has never entered the set in which his wife moves. He loathes anything that approaches society, but is something of a clubman.

HERRING FISHERIES.

In certain northern countries of Europe the herring crop decides the financial condition of the common people. If it is 2,000,000,000 pounds there is money to burn; if much less there is pinching. The herring catch of America is worth only about $1,000,000 a year, but is growing fast, and in time will reach great proportions. Schools of herring often cover an area of as much as twenty-two square miles, and the fishes are so closely packed together as almost to sustain the weight of a man. Christ walked upon the Sea of Galilee; who knows that He did not find support on a school of fish? There is a single firm of fishermen on the Potomac river that has a haul seine five miles in length, and its brine tanks hold at one time 3,000,000 herrings. The trouble with herring is that they are usually dirty and repulsive.

A man in North Carolina, who was saved from conviction for horse stealing by the powerful plea of his lawyer, after his acquittal by the jury was asked by the lawyer: "Honor bright, now, Bill, you did steal that horse, didn't you?" "Now, look a here, judge," was the reply, "I allers did think I stole that horse, but since I heard your speech to that 'ere jury, I'll be doggoned if I aint got my doubts about it."

Henry Weidman, a blacksmith, near Mount Joy, Pa., who is greatly annoyed with rats, discovered a new and novel plan to capture the destructive rodents. He soaks grains of wheat in whisky, which he then spreads around for them. The rats eat the wheat freely, with a relish. The result is that the rats get to be so drunk that they are an easy prey, and in this way he has been able to destroy a number of them.
